Hoyo De Monterrey

Focusing on a rich and subtle approach towards a distinctive earthiness with medium strength, Jose Gener had been developing tobacco well before launching his 'Le Hoyo' series in 1970. We have featured two cigars from the Epicure trio in order to introduce a slightly lighter selection, with a flawless draw from first light to final puff

Cohiba

Cohiba reserve - the most prestigious brand

The leaves for filler and wrapper used in this 2014 reserva have gone through a long and thorough aging process for three years. This Cohiba Reserva 2014 exclusive launch of just 5,000 numbered boxes of 20 cigars.

The first-ever Cohiba Reserva was the Cosecha 2003, presented in a combination of exclusive vitolas that made Cohiba the first Habano brand to roll out this particular specialty. The 20th Habano Festival is also the setting of choice for the presentation of Reserva Cosecha 2014 by the Cohiba brand, by the hand of the Robustos factory size (ring gauge 50 x 124mm long), one of the most coveted within Habanos' portfolio. With this launch, Habanos' flagship brand has resumed the exclusive Cohiba Reserva Concept.

Hoyo De Monterrey

At the XXI Edition of the Habanos Festival, the first Gran Reserva Cosecha 2013 of the Hoyo de Monterrey brand was presented in its iconic vitola Double Coronas (49 ring gauge x 194 mm length).

Gran Reserva editions are selected, in odd years (even years are reserved for Reservas), within the global brands of the Habanos portfolio. Gran Reserva cigars consist of tobacco grown exclusively in Vuelta Abajo and aged for a minimum of 5 years. In this case, leaves are from the cosecha 2013.

The cigar itself will be a rarity, made in limited quantities. There will be only 5,000 boxes of 15 sold.
